Days/Time: Monday through Friday, 1:15-3:15

Dates: Session 1: June 10 - 14 _____ Session 2: June 24 - 28 _____

Cost: $125 per weekly session

Calling all Junior Scientists! Children will enjoy a week of fun and interactive learning experiences based on science and engineering. Every day, children will learn, explore, and investigate science concepts that stimulate problem-solving and critical-thinking skills. From fun demonstrations to hands-on experiments, children will broaden their knowledge of science in the world around them.

Instructor Bio:

Catherine Denewiler joined the teaching team at The Louisville Preschool in 2015. She has a BA in Psychology and Social Behavior and over 11 years of teaching experience as an Elementary and High School Teacher, including a diverse background in Special Education.

Musical Theatre Camp

Teachers: Hannah Richards and Susie Adams

Ages: 4 - 8

Days/Time: Monday through Friday, 1:15 - 3:15

Dates: July 15 - 26 _____

Cost: $250 per two-week session

In this two-week session, the students will explore stories through song, improv, characterization, movement, instrumentation, and musical/theatre vocabulary. The class will design masks or headbands based on their assigned characters, learn musical accompaniment and create a backdrop, concluding with a fifteen-minute musical performance for families on the final day of class.

Instructor Bio:

Hannah Richards has a BA in Theatre from Guilford College in Greensboro, NC. She currently teaches at the Louisville Preschool and has worked with children ages 4 - 18 at various acting schools throughout the state. Local acting credits include performances with Theatre Company of Lafayette, VIVA Theatre Company, Curious Theatre, Dangerous Theatre Company, Creative Revolution Theatre Company, Foothills Theatre Company, and Taste of Shakespeare.

Instructor Bio:

Susie Adams was born and raised in Colorado and lives in Erie with her husband and 3 children. She has taught early childhood music classes and summer music camps for 7+ years, including her partnership with The Louisville Preschool for the last 8. Before teaching music she was a teacher in her oldest children's preschool classrooms and taught in Headstart Programs as well. In college she studied Music Therapy and earned her degree in Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences from CU Boulder.
